Paul Winterbottom

Part 2 Task X1

Describe a person who always has strong opinions

You should say:

- who this person is
- how you knew him/her
- why you think he/she is an opinionated person

And explain how you feel about him/her

Answer: conversation (1): chunking

I remember that first class really well - there were about 15 in the group - all new to me - I had never met them before because my major was not history.

And the teacher asked if anyone had already read the course text book and immediately Andrew said that he had. He said he disagreed with a lot of the writer's ideas and he had read other books that he thought were much better.

During the class he often interrupted, and wanted to talk about his own ideas.

I think we all felt a little bit irritated.

Fortunately, he said that he had to leave early because he had a doctor's appointment - as far as I remember. I think we all felt quite relieved.
